

one year ago
by Kimiko Karpoff on Saturday, January 15, 2011 at 9:46pm

One year ago, I sat in the sky journeying above snow,

Amsterdam

sea

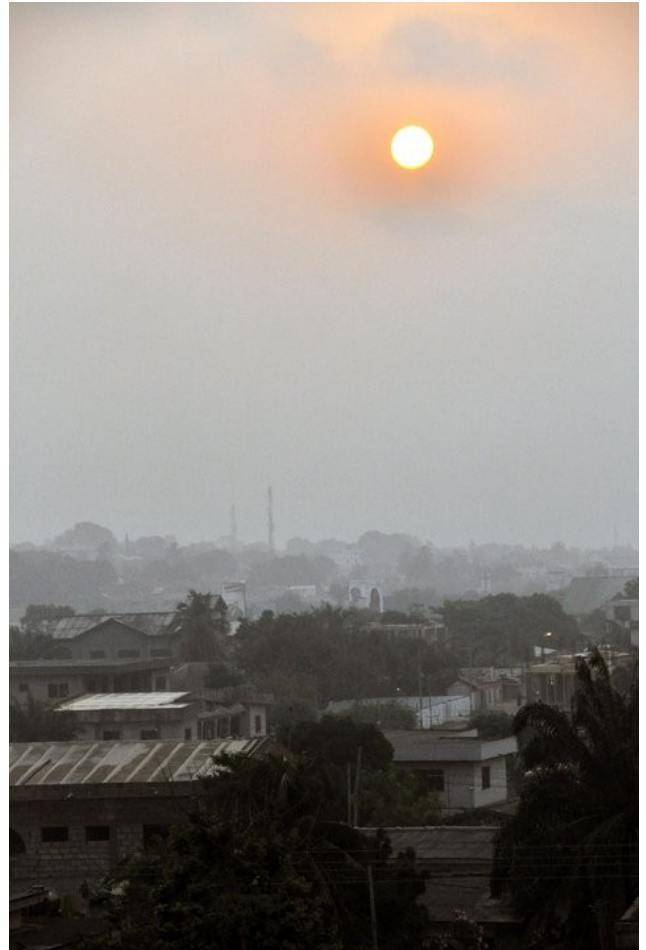

over the Mediterranean Sea into north Africa and desert

the desert.

to experience a sunrise in Accra, Ghana, Africa.

sunrise in Accra

Trotro,

guided me to the Volta Region and the village of Adexor, Kpodzi.

taxi,

i

boat

and footpaths

Adexor Kpodzi

This journey was not just to another land, but another culture; to a place where community is organized in villages and the rhythm of life is guided by the growing season and the quest for food

Charity with a load of cassava and water.

watering hole

One year later I mark this time. This is but the briefest and most inadequate of snapshots. I am filled with gratitude and stories.
Thanks be to God

